Bibliography List

Anne Frank Stichtig. Anne Frank: A History for Today. Amsterdam: Anne Frank House, 1996.

This is the catalog for the “Anne Frank: A History for Today” photographic exhibit, shown in the Anne Frank House in 1996. It plotted the story of Anne Frank’s life alongside the rise of Nazism, and also showcased present-day examples of racism and discrimination.

Anne Frank Stichtig. Anne Frank House: A Museum with a Story. Amsterdam: Anne Frank House, 1992.

This an early edition of the Anne Frank House guidebook, explaining the significance of various rooms throughout the office building and Secret Annex at 263 Prinsengracht in Amsterdam as well as the visitor’s center.

Anne Frank Stichtig. Anne Frank House: A Museum with a Story. Amsterdam: Anne Frank House, 2001.

The most recent edition of the Anne Frank House guidebook, revised and expanded, including photographs of the refurbished Secret Annex as it looked during the war.

Anne Frank Stichtig. Die Welt der Anne Frank/Anne Frank in the World. Amsterdam: Anne Frank House, 1985.

This is a bilingual German/English catalog of the photographic exhibit “Anne Frank in the World”, which was shown in dozens of cities throughout the world during a run of more than ten years. It displayed photographs of the Frank family alongside several aspects of daily life in the Third Reich and occupied Europe during Anne’s lifetime.

Frank, Anne. Anne Frank’s Tales From the Secret Annex. New York: Bantam, 1994.

This is a mass-market paperback collection of Anne’s lesser-known writings while in hiding. It includes the fables, children’s stories, personal essays, and an unfinished novel that occupied Anne’s time while not writing in her diary.

Frank, Anne. The Diary of a Young Girl. New York: Bantam, 1993.

A mass-market paperback edition of the classic diary, with an introduction by Eleanor Roosevelt.

Frank, Anne. The Diary of a Young Girl: The Definitive Edition. New York: Anchor, 1996.

This is a first-edition paperback copy of the definitive edition of Anne’s diary, containing 30% more material than the original. It includes previously “inappropriate” entries in which Anne deals with her mother, her sexuality, and day-to-day life in the Secret Annex.

Gies, Miep and Alison Leslie Gold. Anne Frank Remembered: The Story of the Woman Who Helped to Hide the Frank Family. New York: Simon and Schuster, 1988.

This first-edition paperback tells the life story of Miep Gies, who worked in Otto Frank's office before the war and later helped to hide the people in the Secret Annex for more than two years, delivering food and buoying spirits all the while.

Gold, Alison Leslie. Memories of Anne Frank: Reflections of a Childhood Friend. New York: Scholastic, 1997.

This first-edition hardcover children's book describes the close friendship between Hanneli Goslar and Anne Frank from early childhood to the Bergen-Belsen concentration camp, and describes Hanneli's survival and life after the war in Israel.

Graver, Lawrence. An Obsession with Anne Frank: Meyer Levin and the Diary. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1995.

A first-edition hardcover book that charts the rise and fall of Meyer Levin, a American Jewish writer whose greatest wish was to write a stage adaptation of the Diary but lost the opportunity with the publication of the world-famous version by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett, and died a broken man. An interesting look at differences in opinion of how the Diary and its message should be brought to public attention.

Lindwer, Willy. The Last Seven Months of Anne Frank. New York: Doubleday, 1992.

This first-edition paperback features the stories of seven women who were imprisoned in the concentration camps Westerbork, Auschwitz, and Bergen-Belsen along with Anne and her sister Margot Frank. They describe their lives before the war and in the concentration camps, along with the eventual deaths of the Frank girls in Bergen-Belsen in March 1945.

Müller, Melissa. Anne Frank: The Biography. New York: Henry Holt and Company, 1998.

This is a hardcover copy of the first English edition of the acclaimed German biography. Müller was praised for the amount of research done to clarify all aspects of Anne Frank's life, and to shed light on "the person behind the myth".

Van der Rol, Ruud and Rian Verhoeven. Anne Frank: Beyond the Diary, A Photographic Remembrance. New York: Penguin Putnam, 1995.

A mass-market paperback children's book packed with photos of Anne Frank and her family during the course of her life; it explains the rise of Hitler, the Holocaust, and other related issues in easy-to-grasp terms.

Van Maarsen, Jacqueline. My Friend Anne Frank. New York: Vantage Press, 1996.

A small first-edition paperback written by a childhood friend of Anne's, describing her friendship with Anne and her life during and after the war.

Wilson, Cara. Love, Otto: The Legacy of Anne Frank. Kansas City: Andrews and McMeel, 1995.

A first-edition hardcover book describing a remarkable pen friendship that sprang up between a young fan of Anne's diary in California and Anne's elderly father in Switzerland; Otto Frank advised the author and many other young people throughout the world through his letters until his death in 1980.
